Organization Will Be Perfected to Fight Disorderly Houses, Prevent Repetition of Recent Oturages.

Memphis women from all walks ganization, whose appeal for protection of the wealthy, thronged the War Camp Community center, 6 North Second Rarest, Wednesday afternoon and with determination born almost of despectation, decided to fight and fight hard for a cleaner Memphia. Permanent organization will be completed at another mass meeting to be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'check at the Lync drag afternoon at 5 o'check at the lay a woman are urged to join in this movement for the uplift of Memphis.

Between now and Sunday a central committee composed of representatives from all woman's organization will be named and will outline definite plans for work between now and the November election as well as the lining up of the forces of law and order for a fight for a cleaner city at the polls. Almost all of the women who attended Thursday evening's mass meeting were voters. is merely being a woman, to the wive

The brutal tragedy of last Friday night was the occasion which brought the good women of Memphis, almost a thousand strong, to this meeting of protest. More than 209 women were curied away unable to find standing room in the hall.

Cleanup Demanded.

Cleanup Demanded.

Not only did the meeting voice the protest of the Indignant womanhood of Memphis against conditions which have made possible the Bray tragedy as well as the outrage of last Friday night, but it went further. Only by systematic and persistent endeavor can real good be attained, was the consensus of the opinion of those present and that endeavor can only be furthered by expined organization. This organization is what the women of Memphis are going to perfect Given the right of franchise, it is the purpose expressed at Wednesday's meeting, for the women to make it uncomfortable for any public official further to condone the existence of conditions which have made possible happenings which far outdo in fiendishness and degeneracy any which occurred in the old days when vice was segregated in one infested area and whisky was sold in corner groceries.

Lax methods of law enforcement were condemned in no uncertain terms in the resolutions passed unanimously after being read by Mrs. Percy Finlay, chairman of the meeting. Conditions which make possible the ogling of women, the passing of insulting remarks by street loafers were deplored and the women pledged to see to it that law enforcement agencies be kept actively at work to prevent such practices.

After Moral Lepers.

Inclusion of women on the board of censors for moving picture shows and theaters also was advocated.

Probably the most stringent clause in the resolutions was that veicing the sentiment that men found in disorderly souses be punished as well as the unfortunate inmates of those places of inquity. The employment of two or more spable women officers to enforce the aw against the men was advocated as the method of fighting the social evil, supervision of taxicab service and all sublic vehicles to prevent insults to insuspecting young women by chaufeurs and to make impossible recent rangedies in which the automobile ride slayed an important part was urgently adorsed.

cated as one remedy to curb the social civil.

The action of Oliver H. Perry, the sheriff, in going single-handed to apprehend the trio of rufflans who attacked the young ladies near Hollywood Friday night was highly commended by the meeting. Tremendous applause followed the reading of the portion of the resolution which deprecated as infamous any attempt to cast stepersion upon the character of the three young women so brutally mistreated by the youthful drunkards. A word of warning was voiced to parents to exercise a more rigid discipline overioning girls so prome to be lured into wrong by the promise of a joy ride.

A copy of the resolution was sent to the city commission.

A copy of the resolution was sent to the city commission.

It was clearly apparent during and ofter Wednesday's meeting that Memphis women are in earnest and that the effort to clean up the city will not end with the mere passage of a set of resolutions. The call was sent out by Mrs. D. B. Purvear, chairman of the chairman of the Equal Franchise lub, and Mrs. Isaac Roese, chairman of the Tennessee Suffrage aspociation in the Tenth Congressional district. Nover in the history of the city has a call met with such generous response. Miss Katherine Griffin acted as secretury. Every civic organization in Memphis assured her of support.

The determination to raise the moral tone of the city has permeated the whole fabric of the womanhood of the city. Mrs. Isaac Reese called attention to the fact that many working women and girls were present and that hunreds more, enthusiastically in sympathy with the purpones of the meeting, were prevented by the revented the revented by the revented by the revented that the revented by the revented the revented by the revented the revented to attend to the revented by the revented the revented to attend to the revented by the revented the revented to attend to the revented by the revented to attend to the revented by the revented to the revente with the purposes of the meeting, wer anxious to attend but were prevente from doing so because they could no leave their work. For a certain scene in "The Valley of the Glants," Wallace Reids new Paramount-Arteraft picture, which will be shown at the Strand theater daily this week, a street with a railroad running along the center, was required, so that another track could be hald at right angles across the rails. The location was found and the studio representative petitioned the board of public works of the city of Los Angeles for the privilegs to use the location.

The petition was granted and the scenes were filmed at night while there was no traffic. The company worked for three successive nights getting the required scenes.

Mr. Reid has one of the best parts of his screen carser in "The Valley of the Glants," which is based upon Capt. Peter B. Kyne's successful novel. The supporting company headed by Grace Darmond, is an excellent one.

each strikingly interesting. Beginning

"Hearisease," with popular Tom Moore in the stellar role, will be presented at the Majestic theater for the first time today. The picture, which is Moore's latest, will remain at the Majestic for the rest of the week, closing Saturday night. "Heartsease" is a picturization of Charles Klein's famous stage play of the same name and as a picture, it is said to far excel the play in interesting possibilities. Moore appears in the role of Eric Temple, an English artist, who is espoused by a wealthy and titled Englishwoman, with the result that a most absorbing and unusual matrimonial tangle ensues.

Lou Guernsey was defending one party to an auto collision and was cross-examining a lady witness who was undeniably pretty.
"Have you any idea what caused this accident?" thundered Lou.
"I think so," said the fair witness, sweetly.

"Then tell the court how it happened," thundered Lou, eager for facts.

"Must I tell the truth?"

"You have sworn to do so,"

Orpheum.**

When Wallace Bradley enlisted in the United States navy, Grettle Ardine formed a temporary partnership with another player. Now Mr. Bradley has been discharged and the popular team of Bradley and Ardine is again in evidence at the Orpheum this week. They have a new setting for old talents. The things that Bradley and Ardine do best will always form a key one for their offering and consequently, they sing and dance and do both well, no matter what their vehicle may be. It is conceded by Memphis theater goers that this is by far the classiest dancing act seen at the Orpheum in many seasons.

Another act of this week that is sharing approval also, is Winona Winsom personalities in vaudeville and charming little singer of sweet songs and simplicity.
